Cyan has managed and supported our IT since 2014. We recently received a message from our professional body, RIBA, about information security, which was quite difficult to understand, especially for someone who isn't technical!

After contacting Cyan for advice, Glyn, their IT Security Manager, helped me understand the message from RIBA and potential risks relating to information security. Glyn supported the creation of a new Information Security policy, which in simple form, is a set of rules for our staff to follow to protect our data. Glyn guided me through each section of the policy to make sure I understood the reason why it was important.

Cyan is brilliant at making IT easier to understand. As a result of Cyan's support, we have a better understanding of our risks and are adopting best practices that our teams must follow to secure the organisation against external and internal threats.
